

PC Security Presentation

Cork Computer Consultants is a local information technology company that specialises in security. In order to encourage students to enter the field of information security, they often hire student interns to assist with projects. Cork Electronics, a local chain of technology stores was recently the victim of a security attack that caused their computers and network to be unavailable for several days. CIT Electronics has contacted Cork Computer Consultants for help.

CCC has hired you to create a presentation about computer security. The presentation should cover what computer security is, why it is important, and the basics steps in an attack and defense. Create a PowerPoint presentation of at least 8 slides that covers this information.
